

ED 131 : Applied Learning Theory

Prepares teachers and instructional assistants to work in a standards-based setting. Offers strategies to plan and implement instruction, assess student progress and instructional effectiveness, and re-teach as needed. Focuses on learning and motivational theories that apply to instructional situations. Includes creating and studying activities for specific learning problems.

Credits 3

Subject

Education

Course Outcomes

Students will:

- Apply current research in learning, instruction, and motivation to tutoring and teaching experiences.
- Modify and develop teaching techniques to meet both individual student needs as well as K-12 curriculum standards.
- Assess instructional effectiveness through looking at student work.

Prerequisite Courses

WR 115

RD 115