

ENG 107: Introduction to World Literature (Up to 16th-Century)

Introduces a broad spectrum of literature in translation that begins in antiquity and concludes at the dawn of the Renaissance. Includes works of fiction, poetry, drama and non-fiction. Examines the uniqueness and interconnectedness of literature from a variety of worldwide traditions, both western and non-western.

Instructors may choose an anthology, individual works, or both. This course meets the requirements of a survey, emphasizing breadth over depth.

Course Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course students should be able to:

- Identify and discuss the ways in which literary texts from different cultures and time periods up to the 16th-century are interconnected.
- Analyze the effects of war, religion, technology, economic development, racism, and culture on world literature from antiquity up to the 16th-century.
- Compare and discuss important similarities and differences between the various literary forms, periods, and histories in both western and nonwestern literatures up to the 16th-century.
- Write clear, focused, coherent essays about literature for an academic audience, using standard English conventions of grammar and style.
