

SOC 206 : Social Problems

Applies the sociological perspective to the study of social problems, including their identification, analyses of causes and consequences, and considerations of possible solutions. Explores topics such as inequality, poverty, crime and delinquency, substance abuse, discrimination, domestic violence, the environment, global stratification, and international conflict.

Credits 4

Prerequisites

Equivalent placement test scores also accepted.

Subject

Sociology

Course Outcomes

Upon successful completions students should be able to:

- Apply sociological perspectives and use their sociological imagination in analyzing the causes and consequences of social problems and evaluating
- social actions and policies.
- Locate themselves within social contexts (connect their personal biography and social status with societal history) to reflect on the processes that shape and address social problems.
- Participate as active citizens in their societies and communities, demonstrating respect for diversity, critical thinking, and collaboration in problem-solving.

Prerequisite Courses

WR 115

RD 115